Report of Tree Warden

At the last annual meeting $75 was appropriated to be expended in the suppression of the Brown Tail Moths that had made their appearance on some of the shade trees.

About fifteen thousand nests were gathered and destroyed.

Mr. Matthews furnished one hundred Norway Maples—fifty of the trees were set and fifty more are ready to set in the Spring. About one hundred trees were set during the season and others were trimmed or removed.

The Tree Warden gave personal attention to the trimming of trees on the telegraph and telephone lines and only branches were removed that obstructed the service.

Mr. Meyer as usual, very kindly furnished men to help set most of the trees.

OTIS F. BROWN, Tree Warden.

June 15.	All schools close for Summer vacation.

In making our annual report we are pleased to record a year of progressive work in the schools. Superintendent and committee have been fully cognizant of the necessity of hard work during the year on the part of both teachers and pupils.

At the opening of the school year the committee decided that all scholars in the grammar school in the ninth grade be required to qualify for Beverly tenth grade.

Any scholars failing in this will not be graduated but may remain in the school another year.

This course is necessary for our scholars to graduate from Beverly High School in four years. But it demands some strenuous preparation, especially in the ungraded schools, to accomplish this work.

Attention is called to the increase in the number of children of school age, as shown by the last school census. Should there be an approximate increase during the next few years it will be absolutely necessary to make an addition to the South school building or to erect a High school building that could be used for all scholars above the eighth grade.

At the present time the outlook seems to indicate a continued increase in the population of the town, and consequently the probable necessity for enlarged school accommodations at no very distant day.

Four school houses, outbuildings and fences have been painted and the West school buildings have also been shingled, so that all the school property is now in good condition and will need no material outlay during the present year.

A small amount of money can very wisely be used in putting in an additional water tank in the South school house as the one now in use is too small for the needs of the building. The committee would recommend an appropriation of $100.00 for this purpose.

For the work and condition of the schools in detail reference is made to the report of the Superintendent.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

GENTLEMEN OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE:

I have the honor to submit to you my third annual report as superintendent of schools. This report will consist in giving an account of they ear's work and in suggesting work which will be for the advancement and progress of the schools of the town. It is well to keep in mind that the statistical tables of attendance are for the school year ending last June, but the general report takes up the work of the calendar year ending last December.

Last June closed a remarkably successful year in our school work. There were eighteen pupils graduated from our grammar school, fourteen of whom were recommended to enter the tenth grade at Beverly. The few who were not prepared for this grade entered the ninth. Every pupil who goes into the tenth grade saves the town a year's tuition and transportation. An examination of the record which our pupils have made so far indicates that we shall be able to prepare our pupils for Beverly's tenth grade and thus have them complete the high school course in four years. Our greatest difficulty is with pupils who come from the district schools to the ninth grade. It is next to impossible to prepare the average pupil in the district schools as well as we can in the better graded school in the south end of the town. A few bright pupils will always be found in district schools who will progress rapidly without much individual assistance from the teacher, in fact these may gain self reliance by what would be the average pupil's discouragement and detriment. But by far the larger proportion of the pupils need the personal attention of their teacher which cannot be given in a school of many grades. It seems to me wise wherever it can be done with economy to transport the eighth grade pupils to the South school. It is economy to do this if we can prepare them to enter the tenth rather than the ninth grade. I am positive that this can be done with pupils who have the better facilities of the South School for two years.

There is another difficulty which is urging itself upon the town. The South School building is becoming very much over crowded. The primary room, in which are taught the first and second grades, has numbered over fifty pupils all the year, which necessitated the employment of an assistant teacher who has used the basement and halls as class rooms. This is not a satisfactory arrangement but it offers the only relief possible. Although the Grammar room, in which are taught the eighth and ninth grades, is not full there is not space to put the seventh comfortably in this room, and moreover if we could do so this arrangement would be a serious mistake as it would overcrowd the room and hamper the grammar teacher in her already difficult task of preparing pupils for the high school. Every other room in the building is filled to its capacity.

The need of the south end of the town for increased school accommodation and the large expense to which the town is put by sending pupils out of town to High School has brought out the question. "Would it be wise for Hamilton to have a high school of its own?" Some of the advantages and disadvantages of a local high school may well be pointed out. If we had a high school of our own we could not hope to have so expensively and amply equipped a building as Beverly's or Salem's. Those schools have physical and chemical laboratories which cost several thousand dollars. Their means of teaching the commercial branches are elaborate and expensive. They have high salaried and experienced teachers. The argument however is not all on that side. Hamilton could have good teachers and have a fairly well equipped school when the building was once constructed for the money it is now paying. A high school in a town gives a certain caste to a town, lends local interest, and arouses public spirit. Pupils give their loyalty and interest to the town in which they are educated. Likewise this would avoid attending evils of so much travelling on cars and trains.

PROGRESS

The people of the town can look with a good deal of pride upon their schools. There have come to my attention many commendatory remarks by strangers who have visited our schools. A member of the State Board of Education who visited our schools spoke with praise of the work of our teachers and the equipment of our schools. A step in advance has been made this year in the work of drawing. This work is now being systematized and enthused by a special teacher of drawing. We were fortunate in securing a teacher who can supervise both drawing and music.

READING

The comprehensive system of reading is being used by most of the teachers. This system does away with the excessive use of diacritical marks of the former system and in their place the rules which govern the sound of letters are given. The children are thus able to get new words unassisted. The articulation of the children has improved and there has been a gain in fluency. We have increased our supply of reading material considerably and are now well equipped with historical and geographical readers. There is still a need of some good literature for the higher grades. We aim to inculcate a taste for good reading and the Town Library has assisted materially in this excellent work by buying and loaning to the teachers the proper reading material for the use of the children.

GEOGRAPHY

The tendency of the study of geography has shifted of late years from a description of the earth's surface to the study of man and the earth as his abiding place. The great aim of geography is threefold: to increase an appreciation of man's customs and conditions; to infuse a knowledge of natural obstacles to be overcome and resources to be discovered before nature's laws can be made useful to man; to cultivate the ability to locate places, noted and interesting because of their contribution to history, science or art. We have based our course of study upon the old principle to "proceed from the known to the unknown," so that the child studies geographically, historically and politically, first his home town, then his state, his country, his continent, his hemisphere, the world as a whole. Instead of trying to memorize the names of all mountains, rivers and cities, a detailed study of a few places is made and these are considered as typical of others. To make these types more vivid the imagination should be assisted by specimens, pictures, maps, map drawing and geographical readers. Our work in geography has been much strengthened by the use of Carpenter's Geographical Readers to supplement the text books.

PENNY SAVINGS

Last spring the W. C. T. U. started the Penny Savings System in the South School. This is a work that should be encouraged and promoted by parents and teachers. Mrs. S. W. Barrett, who was appointed to visit the schools and receive the pennies has kindly made a report which I incorporate with pleasure in this report.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS,

DEAR SIR:—In presenting the report of the School Savings System I wish to explain the fact that owing to delays, the beginning of the experiment in the South Hamilton district was not at the opening of the school year as its promoters desired, but in April at the opening of the spring term. The enthusiasm which was so marked in the early weeks of that term was interrupted by the summer vacation.

In the estimation of its friends the experiment has proved a success, and might well be followed in every district of the town. Thanks are due to the teachers for the attention and courtesy given to the Superintendent and their co-operation in her plans. Most of the work has been done by the first four grades and fully two-thirds of money withdrawn has been deposited in banks. The following financial statement will show the results:

Money invested by W. C. T. U.	$ 15.00
Expense	4.13
	<hr/>
Total	$ 19.13
Number of depositors	114
Amount deposited	$ 127.71

Respectfully,

S. W. BARRETT.

Hamilton, Jan. 21, 1905.

CHANGE OF TEACHERS

There were few changes in our corps of teachers last summer. Miss Effie E. Beal, who had so ably and energetically taught the South Grammar School, resigned at the close of the school year in June. The committee were very desirous of retaining Miss Beal's services but did not feel that they could pay the increase of salary to keep her. Miss Boynton, a Normal graduate and a teacher of experience, was secured for the school and is meeting with good success. Miss Nellie Cutting of the East School is out at present on a year's leave of absence to attend Salem Normal School. Miss Foster of Weymouth has been hired for the East School during the present year. Mrs. Eva Robinson, our music teacher, was unable to take charge of the music this year and Miss Julia Goldman of Salem is supervising both music and drawing.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS

During the fall union teachers' meetings of the teachers of Hamilton and Wenham were held weekly at the South School building. Besides discussion upon regular school work a study of the History of Education was taken up. The lively interest and active participation of the teachers in these meetings speaks well of their ability and ambition.

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to the teachers for their responsiveness to suggestion and fidelity to their work; and to the committee for their businesslike manner of conducting school affairs and their kindly consideration in all personal dealings.

Respectfully submitted,

ANDREW S. THOMSON,

Superintendent of Schools.

Report of the Supervisor of Drawing

Hamilton, Feb. 1, 1905.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

The work in drawing, or more broadly speaking the study of art, was introduced into the schools only a few months ago. It is very gratifying indeed to note the interest and enthusiasm that accompanies the successive lessons from week to week. This is in itself a sufficient proof that the art training is a very important factor in the education of the child.

It not only gives the pupil an added power of expression, for drawing is as truly a language as the written or spoken word, but also enriches the life of the individual by revealing to him the beauty of color and form in a way that no other study can.

In the higher grades, during the last few weeks, special lessons on applied design have been given and the work is still in progress. The purpose of these lessons is to lead to an appreciation of beauty in arrangement of lines and masses, and also to stimulate the inventive faculties of the student. The few elementary lessons on color which preceded this work was also applied to the lessons on design.

The work planned for the various schools for the present year was outlined to include as broad a course as possible. Drawing is studied under these three topics:—structure, enrichment and appearance; (1) structure, comprising measurement, geometry, projection, development, and structural design; (2) enrichment, including color, historic ornament and design; (3) appearance consisting of model and object drawing, nature drawing, color and picture study.

It is to be regretted that the lack of necessary material prevents the carrying out of all these branches of the subject. The schools are very much in need of better brushes and water colors. A small collection of artistic pottery, for use in the free hand object drawing, has also been suggested to the superintendent and members of the committee.

One of the great values of the study of art in the schools, is found in its relation to the other branches of the school curriculum, nature study, literature, history, science, etc. It is only right that we should always keep the highest ideals before the students from childhood to youth to instill a love and appreciation of the beautiful and true, and thus uplift and enoble the character of the individual and enrich his whole life.

I wish to thank the superintendent for his untiring efforts in securing the proper equipment for the work and for his interest in establishing this course of study in the schools. To the members of the committee I also wish to tender thanks for their kind support and active interest in the work. My relations with the teachers have been of the most cordial character, and I wish to express my appreciation of the faithful and cheerful way in which my suggestions have been carried out.

Respectfully submitted,

JULIA GOLDMAN,

Supervisor of Drawing.

Report of the Supervisor of Music

Hamilton, Feb. 1, 1905.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

Though I have had the pleasure of supervising the work in Music for only a few months, I am free to say without reserve that notwithstanding the excellent condition in which I found the work the interest and progress is steadily increasing.

The series of music readers and charts that are in present use in the various schools are good, but need to be supplemented by new material. This would give more life, a keener interest in the work, and a greater variety, which is so indispensable a feature in any good course of study.

I am glad to say that there is a marked improvement in the tone quality, and in the facility to read music at sight. In presenting the principles of time, tone and technique, the aim has been to employ such principles of musical theory as would not only facilitate the reading of music, but inspire artistic song singing, and also promote that keener enjoyment of the art which comes only through an understanding of the principles underlying it.

The ends to be secured by the teaching of music in the schools have been no better set forth than by a certain leading musical reader in a recent article. He formulates the proposition as follows :

"To develop and make permanent the fundamental cognitions upon which the mature enjoyment of music depends, such as rhythm, tonality, intensity, tone-quality, and the inner realization of melodic beauty and harmonic force.

To form emotional habits congenial to culture, through the frequent experience of moods characteristics of the soul's best moments, masterly expressed by poet and composer.

To open to the young the world of song, by sympathetic experience of the songs sung during school life, and by complete technical mastery of the written language of music, whereby the whole world of melodic beauty is opened for a life-time possession.

To give honored place in the pantheon of immortals to the names and ideals of those who have most blessed their fellow men through the medium of the art of music ; such as Mozart, Mendelssohn, Beethoven, Schubert, Schumann, Handel, Hayden, etc."

I herewith wish to thank the Superintendent and members of the Committee for their active interest in the work and for their generous support. To the teachers of the various schools, whose keen interest and hearty co-operation has made such progress possible, I also tender sincere thanks.

Respectfully submitted,

JULIA GOLDMAN,

Supervisor of Music.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES AND LIBRARIAN

The trustees are glad to report steady progress. More books and magazines have been issued than in any previous year, the number approximating eight thousand. The loan-libraries for the public schools have been continued, the pupils thereby gaining a knowledge of the best literature under the direction of the teachers. All the publishing houses are issuing collections of the classics, especially for children, as well as elementary books in history, the arts and sciences. There is no more important work for the Library to perform than to supplement the work of the public schools in this way. The number of books added for adults has been about equally divided between fiction and works of biography, history, travel and religion.

The reading room has been well patronized at all times. Twenty-five of the most popular weeklies and monthlies have appeared regularly on the tables. Any magazine or periodical may be taken from the Library after the next regular issue has appeared. New books may be retained one week, instead of three, as formerly, and the librarian may refuse to issue more than one new book to one household.

As in former years the Woman's Education Society of Boston has loaned collections of photographs which have proved to be instructive to a large number. A framed copy of the Massachusetts exhibit of Public Library buildings at the St. Louis fair has been purchased for the reading room. There is room on our walls for works of art of permanent value.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Otis F. Brown the Library has received the "Book of Records of the Hamilton Second Social Library, Commenced February 10, 1817." This book of unusual interest contains the Constitution, rules and regulations, roll of subscribers, catalogue of books, and a record of books withdrawn by each individual. The Public Library may well be the depository of records, manuscripts and other works of antiquity of permanent value to this town.

The special needs of the coming year are the addition of a few more books of reference; the principal works of some American and English authors, whose works are not on our shelves, the binding of magazines of permanent value, the re-binding of a large number of worn volumes, the completion of the card-catalogue to date, and the preparation of a finding-list. To accomplish this work the Librarian will need considerable assistance, and the trustees will be obliged to draw on the surplus which they have saved for such a contingency. As the Library increases in size and worth, more money will be required to maintain its efficiency.

The Trustees take this opportunity to thank those who have made valuable gifts to the Library during the year, a list of which may be found in the Librarian's report, and Mr. Horace E. Andrews, for the use of his store as a delivery station.

An appropriation of four hundred dollars is recommended for the ensuing year.
